PENTASPACE DESIGN STUDIO

This seven-bedroom home in Vapi, Gujarat, is designed for a joint family spanning three generations, living harmoniously together in a serene, tranquil setting. Symbolizing "unhurried urban living," it embodies the client's desire for a space that exudes serenity, joy, and an atmosphere of boundless happiness. With a layout spread across three levels, the design team translated these aspirations into reality, creating a haven of calm and contentment for generations to come.

The vision for this contemporary bungalow was inspired by elegance and the beauty of flora and fauna, integrating diverse elements such as intricate artifacts and vibrant paintings, which lend sophistication to every corner. The design emphasizes dynamic, transitional spaces that flow seamlessly throughout the home. A key feature is the ground floor's transactional area, which divides the space and leads to a peaceful courtyard and cozy TV room, fostering fluidity and interconnectedness.

On the first floor, the family room and mandir area are curated with contemporary design, highlighted by an arch wall that separates the two spaces, adding grandeur. This floor also features two master bedrooms and a kid's bedroom. The second floor, with its meticulous attention to detail, includes another master bedroom and uniquely designed rooms, each reflecting the occupant's personality through bespoke planning and color schemes. The entire design maintains understated elegance, ensuring cohesion across the residence.

A standout feature is the hand-painted staircase wall that extends from the ground to the third floor. A sophisticated color palette of greys, whites, and pastels infuses the space with tranquility, creating a cohesive and inviting atmosphere. With careful attention to detail and bespoke design, this bungalow offers a luxurious yet functional living experience, blending timeless elegance with modern comfort.
